

Changing thousands of kids' lives with these

Port Denarau Marina is proud to support the Australian-based charitable organization Its Time Foundation.

Many island schools struggle with no electricity supply or they rely on dirty and usually very inefficient diesel generators they can barely afford to run a couple of hours per day in the school and a couple in the evenings for the teachers' families. So, the kids in those schools have little or no chance of a modern education.

Its Time Foundation provides clean, free energy for lighting and computers and utterly transforms the education and life prospects for these kids. The money saved on generator fuel creates decades of cash flow to buy the computers. Schools are saving as much as 20% of their budget. Additional money for education resources comes from the teachers, who are only too happy to pay a small amount for the luxury of 24 hour power -- they were paying for diesel anyway. Everyone wins.

Not left and forgotten

Too often, good intentioned people install remote infrastructure without provision for its long term care. Whilst these systems are low maintenance, Its Time Foundation monitors them and has established a relationship with the Fiji Government for regular checking. See the bottom of www.iitime.org for a detailed document describing all aspects of the projects that ensure quality solar systems that last for decades.

Helping Kids AND the Environment

Every liter of fuel saved not only equates to more educational resources for the children of Fiji, but also means that 2.45 kilograms of harmful carbon dioxide is prevented from entering the atmosphere. It's a small, but very real contribution to protecting the islands and the surrounding coral reefs from the effects of climate change.
